

YOUNG ARBITRATION GROUP (YAG) REGISTRATION FORM

CIICA Young Arbitration Group (YAG) is an association of young lawyers, law students and young members of the business community and government sector who have a keen interest and/or background in arbitration. YAG has been set up under the auspices of CIICA to promote the understanding and use of arbitration in particular and ADR in general among its young members. It aims to provide a forum for its members to discuss and analyze relevant issues in arbitration and ADR and exchange their views and opinions with other members of the group.

There is no membership fee to register as a YAG member. Membership is open to law students, practitioners, in-house counsel, academics, government employees, and other younger members of the business community who have a keen interest and/or background in arbitration/ dispute resolution. All members must be under the age of 40.
